LONDON (CP) — Increasing hammer blows of Allied air power are beginning to make Ger-many doubtful of the outcome of the war, the R.A.F. reports in its third booklet recording historical phases of the war.

"This is an interim report," says the booklet, which is entitled "Bomber Command Cones." "The enemy is not de feated-yet. He certainly is no longer exultant. It may be he is beginning to feel doubtful of what the end will be."

The publication explains that Britain was forced to build from scratch plants to produce new heavy bombers and train personnel for the plants. It notes that British aircraft alone bombed Cologne, the Ruhr and Bremen with 1,000-plane flights. "If so much can be achieved by a force armed with Britisn aircraft, nearly all of them manned by British and Empire crews, it surely is possible to hope for great things when the air force of America begins to fly side by side with them toward the same targets," the booklet says.

One goal of British bombing is to aid Russia, it says, and another is to wither German morale, "which is a strange plant more sensitive than sometimes is

The booklet is a sequel to "Bomber Command," publishe several months ago, and details British bombi : activities from mid-July of last year "earlier stages of the 1942 of-fensive, now in full swing." The first R.A.F. booklet was "Battle of Britain

London commentators, refer-ring to these results, express the view that it is as important to overcome such anti-American sentiment as exists in Britain, as it is to overcome whatever ent'-British sentiment there is in the United States.

More Britons like Americans than dislike them, the survey shows. One of the most interesting facts brought to light by the survey is that the majority of Britishers think the Americans re more demoratic than they are that the British would be better off if they were more like the Americans. About one in three, however, thinks that most Americans adopt a superior attitude without any grounds.

There is no disposition among the majority of Britons to believe that Americans are too willing to let others do their fighting. About one in four would agree with that, while 55 per cent deny it.

Vitat to the Province

DOWN THROUGH ITS CHEQUERED career the Pacific Great Eastern Railway has been described as a line which "begins nowhere and ends nowhere." This is far from a fair description of the provincially-owned property. It has been a tremendous boon to all those whose large territory it traverses. But it is true that until it is connected at both ends with other systems in British Columbia and in the northern area, to link the province with Alaska, it will not play that part in our internal economy which it was originally designed to play. And unless its domestic status shall be improved by such extension -for which, of course, the provincial treasury has no financial means-it must remain an investment subject to the effects of all the economic winds that blow.

But it is an ill wind that blows nobody Recognizing the pressures of total war in their manifold aspects, Premier Hart arranged for a delegation from the Seattle Chamber of Commerce, together with several engineering experts and United States railway executives, to have a look at the P.G.E., its roadbed, its rolling stock, the area it serves-to give them a fair idea of how the property could be dovetailed into a plan to establish railway connection from the State of Washington, through this province, to Alaska. Not only were the visitors impressed by everything they saw, especially as to how the line could be utilized in the fullest international sense, but also its potentialities for development and expansion after the present emergency shall have passed. This latter point is well worth noting, moreover, because in the years to come there is bound to be a greater identity of economic interest-perhaps even collaboration-between British Columbia and the states of the union on the immediate and slightly more removed south,

Mr. Hart quite properly discussed the prospects before a joint meeting of the counthe Washington State visitors last Thursday night. Speaking as a businessman as well as the first minister of this province he naturally trained his expert knowledge of provincial economy on the whole provincial scene. His advice to the gathering was the formation of a joint committee, composed of British Columbians and Washingtonians with the Seattle Chamber of Commerce and the Vancouver Board of Trade taking the initiative-to see how the too-long-postponed development of the great northland can be facilitated by fitting the P.G.E. into an international railway scheme.

The advice of the Premier is excellent it should be followed without delay. Because unless the provincially-owned line is tied up with the present important railway program in the north country, the enormous benefits that should accrue from business foresight in large tracts of virgin territory will flow to the Canadian and American east and not to the Pacific slope to which it rightly belongs. This is the chance for the have sounded, P.G.E. to come into its own. But prompt action and a practical approach to the whole subject are essential.

It is advice that Canada needs all and industry is not specified. However, it too much in these days of trial and tribulahas been announced that 20,000 men will be tion.

called for the army during September. This Bruce Hutchison is on top of 7,000 called in June, 15,000 in July and 25,000 in August. This will give a total of 67,000 for the June-September period, compared with 63,000 during the whole previous draft period.

Already in some districts calls are going out for men in the age groups of 20 and 36-40, who are unmarried or widowers, to complete the combing of the ages 20 to 40 nclusive. For all Canada the number liable to call in the age 20 group is estimated at 95,000 and in the 36-40 group at 93,500, a total of 188,500. Not all who are called are inducted into the army, as only category A men are so far being accepted. The percentage of A men in the age 20 group, naturally is higher than in the 36-40 group

With the completion of the calls of A men in the 20 to 40 group, Ottawa is reported considering the next step to be taken to keep up the draft rate. Re-examination of men in the 21-35 group, with cancellation of postponements granted, is considered practically certain. Acceptance of B and C1 men is seen as probable. There is also the possibility of a call-up of unmarried men and childless widowers between 41 and 45, and of married men in the 20 to 40 group without children, Assurances have been given that 19-year-olds will not be called.

Altogether, an acceleration in the calling up of draftees is indicated. This is necessary to meet the demands of the army for increased coastal defence, particularly along this coast and up into Alaska, and to have trained men available to fill the ranks of the overseas army in view of anticipated losses in an offensive against the Nazi-held continent.

Mr. Dewey's Nomination

AS MANY PUBLIC MEN KNOW FULL well, it is one thing to win a nomination and another thing altogether to win an elec tion. Probably Mr. Thomas E. Deweychosen Republican candidate for the office of Governor of New York State by acclamation last night—is thinking along similar lines this morning. And many aspirants for office likewise make promises before polling day which they often forget afterwards. Not that Mr. Dewey's sincerity should be questioned when he renounced any idea, if and a bottle of rye beside them, and I elected next November, of presidential aspirations in 1944. He lost to Mr. Willkie in 1940; and Mr. Willkie's stock two years curtains, lingered longer in clothing and hence may be even higher than it is with some Republicans at the moment. Not a future prospects of British Columbia and President Roosevelt have now discovered that he possesses a breadth of outlook and a sympathetic understanding of many probcil of the Vancouver Board of Trade and lems which put him outside the pale of their circumscribed thinking. They dislike him more than they do the chief executive; they know he is "wise to them."

On the other hand, it is noteworthy that the Republicans in session at Saratoga Springs last night were careful to approve the President's general war policy, as well as to recognize their party's responsibility for aligning itself with such national and international programs as may be necessary for the complete winning of the peace. In this, of course, is reflected the resolve of the National Committee of the Republican Party in Chicago last April. In a recorded minute of its proceedings, and at the instigation of Mr. Willkie, it threw completely overboard everything savoring of isolationism in all its aspects. In the meantime, however, Mr. Dewey will have an opportunity of convincing the electorate of the State of New York that some of his pre-Pearl Harbor utterances were not as antipathetic to the nation's foreign policy as they may

CONCERNING CIGARS

ONE OF THE NOTABLE results of the war is to increase cigar smoking. The tebacco industry, I read in the New York press, is amazed to find how much more money than formerly the public of America is investing in cigars.

Statisticians explain it by the rise in the national income which permits many or-dinary cigarette addicts and humble pipe smokers to graduate into the new plutocracy and mark their rise by a large cigar pro jecting from their teeth.

Advertising men explain it by the suc sess of their technique in advertising the cigar as the badge of virile manhood and the ideal of the beautiful woman.

Psychologists explain it by the example of Mr. Churchill, who has made the cigar a symbol of unconquerable courage, whereas the pipe, popularized by Mr. Baldwin, has been almost ruined. I suppose, and made into the badge of political stupidity.

All these explanations, of course, miss the point entirely. Men smoke cigars because they want to, because they are naturally low, sensual and worldly creatures. The cigar is a vile thing. So is the cigarette. So is the pipe. So is all tobacco And men love them.

If I were in the tobacco business I would say so immediately. I would boast about it. I would advertise my cigar as the lowest, strongest, vilest, most pungent on the market. This would assure me of custom, for men do not smoke, as the advertisements imply, to attract women, to imitate Mr. Churchill, to advertise their courage or their political convictions. They smoke because they like the taste, the feel and the effect of smoke, and the stronger the better.

HOW TO DO IT

IF I WERE MAKING cigars I would not advertise them with pictures of pretty girls admiring strongly-muscled young men in bathing suits with a slim cigar in their callow lips. I would prints pictures of tough men of middle age lolling in armchairs, with their feet on the veranda rail would assert that my cigars smelled worse, left a stronger aroma in the living-room did more damage to the health than the brands manufactured by my competitors. few who supported him in his fight against That is what men want. They want to smoke. They don't want to be educated by tobacco, uplifted by tobacco, inspired by tobacco, made patriotic by tobacco, made famous by tobacco. They just want to inhale tobacco deeply into their lungs, regardless of the damage therein, and enjoy them selves.

> But we are such a righteous and hypo critical age that all things must be made to seem virtuous, healthful, moral and religious. Even liquor must be made to seem and lately the liquor interests have taken to representing their strongest whiskies as the proper companions of the family circle, as the drink of charming women, as the emblem of American Motherhood.

Whisky is pictured around the cosy fireplace in the evening, with father soberly sipping the magic brew while the children look on, only waiting to reach 21 years of age so that they can join in this beautiful lomestic rite.

Above all, whisky must be made the smart thing. It is no longer the drink of plain men, hard men, poor men in overalls. It is the drink of the fashionable, the chic, the sophisticated. It has become smart and even clever to drink whisky, as if some special ability were required, some special upbringing, some special place in society.

You are made to feel that it is a privilege drink it, as if you were participating in some exclusive pleasure reserved for the better people; whereas even illiterate men can drink whisky and get quite as drunk as the most refined and educated. The effects, as I have observed them, are roughly the same in the master and the servant, in the rich and the poor.

SO THAT IF I WERE making whisky (and continues to go up) I would not picture it as the mild stuff that Mother used to drink in the twilight, as the proper drink for 'teenage girls and successful young businessmen. I would advertise my whisky as the most potent, alcohol-loaded, knock-down-and-dragout beverage on the market. I would guarantee that two drinks of it would make your head spin and three start you singing "Sweet Adeline." I would print pictures of ordinary men lying comfortably sodden after four glasses. If I were making beer I would not advertise it as the drink of moderation and sobriety, because beer is not drunk with any such object in view; no, I would come to the point immediately and say that my heer had the same kick as Jamaica rum and that, after two bottles of it, you would knock the helmet off the nearest policeman and tear out the hydrant from the pavement

In other words, I would appeal not to men's minds but to their appetites; not to families: "We will come back." their virtues but their vices, for it is their appetites and vices that demand these commodities. If men will smoke and drink, and the second fun. But why representation of the cause of human freedom, resides now in London. sent it as a wonderful accomplishment, a

Pinball Machine Problem Aired At Convention

Alberta has taken drastic steps to rid the province of the menace of pinball machines, it was re vealed in the discussions at the ecent biennial convention of the Canadian National Federation of Iome and School Associations which is affiliated with the Par nt-Teacher Federation.

Legislation was passed making pinball machines illegal, after which, when such machines were found in operation, they were smashed up by the police, Alberta delegates revealed. Another novel way of combating the machines was taken in one city, where one of the machines was taken to a school, placed on the platform of the auditorium and played by three boys, to prove that it was "impossible to beat the ma-chines," an experiment which cured many boys of the pinbail

Many other problems affecting he well-being of the boys and girls were aired at the convention according to Mrs. G. W. Pot-tinger, who with Mrs. Wm. Blair, represented Victoria at the con vention. Addresses on presentday education in its relation to the needs of the children, guidance, the home as an educational agency, the parents' responsibil ity for the right kind of school, and postwar educational prob were all given by leading speakers and were followed by ound tables and discussions of much interest.

"COMICS" ATTACKED

Hon, Wm. Aberhart, as Pre nier and Minister of Education in his address strongly opposed the suggestion that education in Canada be made a federal respon-sibility. Dr. D. W. Wilkins of St. Louis University, St. Louis, attacked the so-called Mo., "comic" magazines and felt that parents should take more responsibility to see that their children saw only suitable motion pictures, read decent magazines and books and listened to good radio programs. Mrs. K. G. Kern, president of the British Columbia P.-T.A. Federation, took part in the in-teresting round table on "Does Mrs. Kern suggested that where over from Vancouver yesterday to be the guest of Miss Gilled most was in not providing a basic religious or ethical training.

Y.W.C.A. Rest Rooms In Britain Popular

Railway station restrooms for service girls in Britain are a fea-ture of British Y.W.C.A. war work little known to the general public. From London comes a report to National Council of the work, Section Officer Frances Y.W.C.A. describing "a pleasant Douglas said in an article recomfortable chairs, bunks in an adjoining section and hot tea on tap . . . the new Y.W.C.A. rest-room for service women at Euston station." The Mrs. Winston the new Y.W.C.A. rest-Churchill Fund for British Service Women, for which $60,000 has been raised in Canada, helps fi-nance the war services of the British Y.W.C.A.

This room was opened at the urgent request of the military authorities in premises requisi-tioned by the War Office. Until then, girls who missed their trains had to use the ordinary station pected praise for the girls in waiting rooms or find their way in the dark to the Y.W.C.A. The restroom is open from 9.30 p.m. to 8 a.m. Service girls with many hours to wait can have a bunk with a mattress, two blankets and a pillow. Others use green-topped tables, a sofa and an inviting shelf of books. Bright curtains with an attractive geometrical design are sewn as panels to the blackout material which sets off admirably their cheerful colors — an idea for ousewives who seek to combine blackout with beauty.

OTHERS PLANNED

Liverpool, Inverness and Bangor and further restrooms at Victoria and Liverpool Street Stations in Other places are planned for the near future.

The Newcastle room is one day older than the war. It opened on September 2, 1939. Since then, 7,200 girls have used it. In addition to service girls the room is they observe the pledge of silence used by the wives of service men traveling to see their husbands During last year's raids, hundreds of women and children evacuees from bombed areas were also ac-

The report points out that these rooms are filling a growing need as more women enter the services and curtailed time tables increase the risk of being "stranded."

Lowe, Duffy Homer; Final Wednesday

In another of those ball games in which the result was in doubt ninth, Victoria Machinery Depot nosed out Pitzer and Nex 6 to 5 win apiece. Clubs will battle it out in the third and deciding clash, Wednesday night at 6.15, with the winner to tackle the Navy in the final.

V.M.D. won on the strength of two towering home runs by shortstop Ian Lowe and left fielder Morris Duffy. Those two single scores, in the fifth and sixth frames, played a leading part in the victory of the ship yarders.

That never-say-die Pitzer and Nex crew again had the fans up on their feet with another of their famous ninth inning rallies. Three runs behind, the gasmen succeeded in pushing two runs across the plate, and had the try-ing run resting on second base,

V.M.D. pulled a surprise when they came up with that Indian hurler, Chief Jimmy Rattlesnake, as their starting choice. The Ed-monton brave was with the team earlier in the season, but left for home after appearing in one league game. He was brought back for the playoffs. But Chief Jimmy lasted just three innings, when he was chased to the show ers, after loading the bases, to be replaced by Ronnie Gervais. However, Rattlesnake left the game with his club on top, and the winning moundsman. The Indian had trouble with his control, giving up five walks. He allowed two runs and a like number of hits. Gervais allowed six hits while he struck out 11.

BEAT MUSGRAVE

Big, right-hander Tommy Musgrave was on the mound for Pitzer and Nex. Although he allowed only eight hits, two of them were home run balls, while another two were good for three bases. Musgrave struck out three and walked five.

V.M.D. got to Musgrave for a was safe when Barnswell allowed The eight seeded players in the his grounder to roll through his legs. McMillan was hit by a pitched ball. Rattlesnake grounded to Murray, who threw to Barnswell, forking McMillan, but the second baseman tossed wild, trying for the double killing, allowing. Duffy to skip home. Work kicked up the dust on the right field line for three bases, scoring Rattlesnake. Restell, struck out for the third man.

In the third the shipyarders made it 3 to 0. Harney walked, stole second and scored on Lowe's single into right field.

Fourth inning saw Pitzer and Nex get two runs back and Raftle snake leave the game. Murray walked and Morgan beat out a bunt towards first. Stratton laid down another bunt and Rattlesnake fumbled, loading the bases, Garnet walked, forcing Murray home and that was all for the Chief. Naylor hit to McMillan at second and Morgan scored, but Stratton was caught off third, last of the ninth, before the staged its great rally. Murray and Morgan came through with successive singles. With two strikes on him. Stratton doubled and Morgan trotted home when catcher Harney allowed the throw from the outfield to get by him. Garnet fanned and the ball game was over.

Pet Grievance of Women Is Their Husband's Silence

Dear Miss Dix: I am not a talkative person. Making conversation is quite a shore for me. When I am with people other than home folks I suppose I do work at it a little harder and try to find things to say when there really isn't anything to talk about. But this is because the social order seemingly demands k, while at home I am just my natural self.

This is the sore spot of an otherwise satisfactory marriage. My wife says I do not want to talk to her. She says I have nothing to say to her when we are a treat in the title role. As the story opens, two partners in a failing drug store sell out their business and join the army, only to find that their top sergeant at camp is the menacing Herman Mulligan, who is a collector for a wholesale drug firm has lon been trying to collect an overdue bill from the partners. The sergeant proceeds to make life miserable for the bungling rookies, and their suffering reaches a high point when the top-kick discovers them in the act of making up to his girl friend, a gorgeous blonde who is an entertainer in a night club near the camp.

OAK BAY AND PLAZA "Top Sergeant Mulligan," Monogram's comedy of army camp life which is currently at the Oak Bay and Plaza Theatres, qualifies as one of the most hilarious motion pictures of the current season. From beginning to end, it is literally a riot of fun,
